

Lindbergh Rests Following Month Of Great Acclaim

Last Whirl of Greeting Ended Sunday When 100,000 Gathered at Forest Park—No Arrangements Concerning His Future—Thousands of Invitations to Fly Unaccepted.

St. Louis, June 20 (P).—Sheltered from the acclaim of roaring crowds, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh rested today after one month of unparalleled praise following his transatlantic flight in the "Spirit of St. Louis".

The conqueror of the north Atlantic air is tired. Last night when 12,000 of his fellow citizens crowded the Municipal Theatre, he sat through the first act of "Princess Pat" and then left, but not before he had been coaxed to appear for a moment upon the stage.

Today was the first that he was not at the beck of a welcoming committee, the first when he was not a part of elaborately planned ceremonies, the first when he was alone to step down from the spotlight of undivided public attention into that of "Slim" Lindbergh, flier and son of a beloved mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh.

The last whirl of greeting ended yesterday when more than 100,000 persons gathered at Forest Park to see Colonel Lindbergh fly his silver plane in widening circles and later to hear him speak of the future of aviation.

Mrs. Lindbergh planned to return to Detroit today. Col. Lindbergh will stay at the home of Harry F. Knight in St. Louis county for a few days until his plans are more definite. Then he expects to find a place to live in St. Louis.

He has made no arrangements concerning his future. Thousands of invitations to fly his ship to other cities he unaccepted. Tuesday night he will attend a banquet of the industrial club here. In an address yesterday he gave a hint of what his future course may be when he said: "St. Louis is in position to be the center of air lines in the United States. With cooperation we can put St. Louis where it belongs as the center of aviation in this country."

McC Campbell Gets Harper's Dry Job

Chief of Albany Office Made Temporary Administrator in Northern and Western New York.

Albany, N. Y., June 20 (P).—A new hand is to direct enforcement of prohibition in western and northern New York.

Andrew McC Campbell, chief of the Albany enforcement office, today will take up the work left by Judge Roscoe C. Harper, who telephoned his resignation to Washington because he said he could not meet the requirements of six years' experience in an executive post.

McC Campbell's appointment, made known on his return from a conference in Washington with Commissioner Doran, is only temporary.

"I have not had the slightest intimation that my new post will be permanent," he declared. "There will, I believe, be no official announcement as to who will succeed Judge Harper permanently until October 1. At that time a permanent appointment will be made."

His appointment to the Buffalo office will enable McC Campbell to name his successor in the Albany office. He would make no comment on the man to be chosen beyond indicating he was "well satisfied with the work done by the Albany agents."

McC Campbell was named by Judge Harper as one of three men qualified to hold administrative positions under regulations enacted by the last Congress.

The first official act of Mr. McC Campbell in his new position was his appointment of Milford Combs as deputy administrator in charge of Albany district.

POPE PAYS TRIBUTE TO U. S. EPISCOPACY

Rome, June 20 (P).—Pope Pius in an allocution before the secret consistory today paid tribute to the Catholic Episcopacy of the United States for its aid in making known the true situation of Catholics in Mexico.

The Pontiff declared he desired to take this opportunity of "praising in warmest fashion the Episcopacy of the United States, who have not neglected any opportunity to enlighten public opinion on the situation of the church in Mexico and to extend the warmest sympathies to their colleagues in the Mexican Episcopacy."

He gave expression to his keen sorrow over the tribulations of the Chinese people, which he said, resulted from no fault of the Chinese people, who naturally were peace and order loving, but from influence imported from abroad. He hoped when the occasion presented, to be able to give this ancient people even greater proof of his affection and sympathy by being able to do "something more than pray for the Chinese, which I have done, and will always continue to do."

Austrians Greet American Fliers

Thousands Gather at Aspern Air Field to Cheer Chamberlin and Levine—Great Welcome at Munich.

Vienna, June 20 (P).—Having completed a fortnight's stay on German soil after their momentous trans-ocean flight from New York, Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine were guests today of the Austrian government.

"Guten tag, Wien!" (Good day, Vienna.) With these words Chamberlin greeted the Austrians when he and Levine stepped from the plane Columbia on their arrival from Munich last night. Notwithstanding a pouring rain thousands of people were gathered at the Aspern air field to greet the Americans who were immediately surrounded and carried on the shoulders of admirers. Their wives came a few minutes later as passengers in one of a half dozen escorting planes.

After shaking hands with the cabinet ministers and other officials, the party was driven around the field through dense crowds, the band meanwhile playing the American anthem.

When a semblance of order was restored and a path made for the machine, some one stepped forward and offered the fliers a stein of beer.

It was the second great welcome of the day, for when they arrived at Munich from Berlin in the afternoon, all of Bavaria apparently had turned out in their honor.

Byrd May Start At Dusk Tuesday

Plans to Hop Off With His Three Companions at 6 P. M.—Flight Will Be an Effort to Learn Secrets of the Storms.

New York, June 20 (P).—Dusk tomorrow may see Commander Richard E. Byrd's monoplane America start on its scientific flight to Paris.

Unlike his predecessors, Lindbergh and Chamberlin, who left Roosevelt Field shortly after dawn, Commander Byrd is considering a departure with his three flying companions at about 6 p. m. He feels his plane would thereby reach Newfoundland with the dawn and Paris before sunset.

East winds and local rain storms along the north Atlantic seaboard and from Newfoundland to the Irish coast indicated a hopoff would not be wise before tomorrow, Byrd said last night.

His flight, he explained, will be an effort to learn the secrets of the storms, winds and fogs of the Atlantic ocean as they affect aerial navigation.

"One of the things we are trying to prove," he said, "is that by getting weather predictions based on reports from ships at sea one can tell at any time what the weather is across the Atlantic, which will be an invaluable aid to transatlantic fliers."

In this connection he commended the Radio Corporation of America for its "very valuable" reports from liners.

Storms, according to the flier's calculations, may be turned to advantage. He said storm areas revolve counter-clockwise as they travel, and "by flying on the southern rim of a storm traveling east, planes should be able to take advantage of this movement and be carried toward Europe at a high speed."

Big Demand for Pageant Tickets

The advance sale of tickets for the Pageant on June 30, is meeting with great success, according to reports from various committees in charge of the ticket sale in communities throughout the county and in the city as well. Of the initial allotment of reserve section seats offered nearly all have been taken and it has been necessary to send out an additional supply to several communities.

Residents of the county who plan to occupy a seat in the reserve section will do well to purchase their tickets immediately.

For those not desiring a grandstand seat a general admission ticket will be sold at the gate on the day of the Pageant. General admissions will be fifty cents each for adults and twenty-five cents for children.

Druggist Dies in Crash

Baltimore Spn. N. Y., June 20 (P).—George H. Higgins, 40, Corbith druggist, was killed, his wife received serious cuts and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Higgins of Corbith escaped with slight bruises when an automobile driven by Mrs. Higgins overturned in a ditch west of this village early today. Higgins was widely known in Saratoga county.

Motorcyclist Injured

Edward Kinter 25 Downs Street reported to the police that while riding his motorcycle Sunday morning he was struck in the rear by an automobile driven by Arthur Jones of New Jersey at the intersection of Albany and Manor avenue. The motorcycle was damaged and Kinter sustained an injured leg, which was treated by Dr. Frank A. Johnston.

Four Cases in Police Court

Fred J. Snow of Hewitt Place Fined $200 for Driving Car While Intoxicated—Two Arrested for Auto Violations—One Arrest for Assault.

Fred J. Snow of No. 16 Hewitt Place was arrested Sunday evening on Broadway near Stuyvesant street by Policeman Harnen, who charged Snow with operating a car while intoxicated. Two other charges were also preferred against Snow, that of driving without an operator's license and that of having no certificate of registration.

This morning in police court Mr. Snow explained to Judge Shufeldt that he had purchased the car Saturday and had expected to obtain the necessary papers today. He said he formerly had an operator's license but it had expired as he had not driven a car in two years.

Mr. Snow pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and was fined $200. Sentence was suspended on the other two charges.

Had No License

Henry Wiegert, 19 years old, of 93 Emerick street was arrested by Officer Kamasa at Broadway and Railroad avenue Saturday on a charge of driving a car without having the necessary license papers. Wiegert explained to Judge Shufeldt he had had a learner's permit but it had expired. He was warned to have it renewed and not to attempt to drive a car without having some licensed operator with him. Sentence was suspended.

Struck Another Car

Miss Katherine Lindsey of New York city was arrested Sunday afternoon following a collision with an auto of Albert Hands of Brooklyn. Miss Lindsey was driving over Abel street and did not notice the signal set against her. Hands was driving off the bridge into Abel street when struck. This morning Miss Lindsey adjusted the damages to the Hands car and her sentence was suspended.

Arrested for Assault

Frank Stafford of 51 German street was arrested on Fair street Saturday night by Charles J. Maines of 124 Wilbur avenue, and turned over to the police. Maines claimed that Stafford assaulted him with his fists striking him in the eyes and face. This morning in court Maines bore a badly decorated face. Stafford pleaded not guilty to the charge and the trial was set down for Thursday morning.

U. S. Proposes 5-5-3 Ratio

To The Three Power Naval Limitation Conference at Geneva It Declares We Will Accept as Low a Tonnage As Is Acceptable to The Other Powers.

Geneva, June 20 (P).—Extension of the 5-5-3 principle of naval strength to cruisers, destroyers and submarines of the United States, Great Britain and Japan was proposed today to the three power naval limitation conference by the American delegation.

Opening the conference called by President Coolidge, Ambassador Hugh Gibson, the chairman, proposed that cruisers be limited to tonnage of 250,000 or 300,000 tons for the United States and Great Britain and to 100,000 or 150,000 tons for Japan.

Destroyer tonnage would be restricted to 200,000 or 250,000 for the two larger powers and to 120,000 to 150,000 for Japan.

Maximum tonnage for American and British submarines would be 50,000 to 80,000 tons with 35,000 to 50,000 tons fixed for Japan.

Gibson presented his proposal after a brief address in which he presented an expression of gratitude to the powers from President Coolidge and declared that "the United States is prepared to accept a general program providing for as low a total tonnage" as is acceptable to the other powers.

COOLIDGE TO CONTINUE HELPING DISABLED VETS.

El Paso, Tex., June 20 (P).—President Coolidge in a letter to the disabled American veterans which he sent to be read at their national convention here today, lauded the organization's work in securing aid for the wounded veterans and declared that the government would continue its work of compensation.

Severely Whipped

Tampa, Fla., June 20 (P).—William E. Sullivan, motion picture machine operator, was seized on the streets here last night by four men, dragged into an automobile and taken several miles into the woods and severely whipped. Sullivan was left in the woods, but returned to his home early today. He declared that he did not recognize any of his assailants.

Dr. John M. Kelly Dies

Boston, N. Y., June 20 (P).—Dr. John M. Kelly, 70, one of the oldest physicians and surgeons in Stoughton, died at a stroke this morning at St. Luke's Memorial Hospital at Rochester.

Herbert Carl Dies Suddenly at Home

Established Pioneer Department Store in Kingston—Active in Business and Civic Affairs For Many Years—Death Came Unexpectedly.

HERBERT CARL.

Herbert Carl, one of the most widely known business men of Kingston, died suddenly at his home, No. 26 Linderman avenue, Sunday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Mr. Carl had been about during the early hours of the day apparently in his usual good health. While on the front porch of his home he told members of his family that he was not feeling well and a few moments later expired. Dr. E. H. Loughran was summoned and although he responded immediately, he found Mr. Carl was beyond aid, death being due to heart failure. Mr. Carl was 74 years of age.

In the death of Herbert Carl the city of Kingston has lost one of its most active citizens. Probably no man was better known than was Mr. Carl. Engaging in business in this city some 50 years ago, Mr. Carl established the pioneer department store of the city on North Front street, not far from Wall street. From the small beginning his business grew and in time additional room was necessary. He purchased the property on which now stands the Rose & Gorman department store and there established the present business which he continued to conduct and enlarge until he disposed of the business several years ago to the firm of Rose-Gorman-Rose.

Disposing of the department store at that time, he continued to operate the Carl Millinery at the same location for a time and then moved that business to the Wonderly Company store on Wall street where it is now located. He was president of that business at the time of his death. During the many years which he conducted the Herbert Carl Department Store on North Front street, he was one of the leading merchants of the city and became widely known throughout the county.

Active in Civic Affairs.

In city affairs he was always active. He was at all times interested in the city welfare and was one of the most active members of the old Board of Trade, which was later taken over by the Chamber of Commerce. With the establishing of the Chamber of Commerce he became actively interested in that organization and continued to devote his time and efforts toward the betterment of the city. Although 74 years old at the time of his death, Mr. Carl was a man much younger in his activities, always willing to take his place among the younger generation and to assist in the development of any civic cause.

When the Chamber of Commerce first took up the matter of erecting a new hotel in Kingston, Mr. Carl became immediately interested and his activities continued until his death. During the building of The Governor Clinton Hotel Mr. Carl was president of that corporation was most active, not only in the building of the hotel but also in the financing of the enterprise. As a member of the committee in charge of construction and financing he became thoroughly familiar with the work and was actively in touch with the work during its progress, and when the building was completed and ready for occupancy, as president of the Kingston Community Hotel Corporation he continued his interest in the hotel and its operation. His interest in the company never grew cold and up until the time of his death he continued to be in almost daily touch with the management and operation of the company.

Active in the Church.

In the affairs of the Y. M. C. A. the church and other organizations he gave much of his time. He was an active member of the St. James Episcopal Church of this city and was a prominent layman in the New York conference of the Methodist Church. He was a great lover of nature and his home on Linderman avenue was surrounded by one of the finest gardens in the city. Some time ago he became interested in a large tract of land in Florida and for several years he spent considerable time

President Hears Youth's Sermon

Coolidges Attend Congregational Church and Listen to Sermon Delivered by Twenty Year Old Boy.

Rapid City, S. D., June 20 (P).—Eager to partake of all of the novel experience which this western country had to offer, President Coolidge entered into his second week in the Black Hills, convinced that the Summer White House is an area exactly to his liking.

He has fished successfully in its racing mountain streams, known the romance of its pine-covered hills, the thrill that an easterner receives from being dressed in a ten-gallon hat and he has heard from a twenty year old boy a simple statement as to why people should go to church.

Perhaps more than any other, the President's first Sunday in the Black Hills was an experience he long will remember, but the day was hardly less unusual for himself than it was for Kott Lium, the big blonde youth who preached the first sermon of his life yesterday, before the President of the United States.

The youth stood behind the pulpit of the Hermosa Congregational Church and looked out upon a gathering of typical of this western country as was the little building set up on the prairie for simple living folks who worship God in a simple way.

Never-to-Be-Forgotten Day.

The day was one which probably never will be forgotten in that town of several hundred people, a town which years ago was famous for its shooting scrapes between miners and the cowboys of the section.

The word had been sent out from the Summer White House several days ago that the President and Mrs. Coolidge would attend the Hermosa Church and a large gathering of photographers, tourists and local townpeople was on hand.

Lium, who came to Hermosa a few days ago to earn enough money as a preacher to put him through as a senior in Carleton College, next year, was as calm as a veteran. He felt any misgivings he shielded them under a sunny countenance.

He called his flock into prayer, led the hymns and preached a sermon without hesitation from notes while the President and Mrs. Coolidge listened attentively. After it was all over he received the congratulations of his distinguished guests and posed with them repeatedly for pictures.

Mrs. Coolidge joined in the singing of all the hymns, but the President remained silent. There was a hush when the singing began, but soon a rancher's wife, encouraged by Mrs. Coolidge's singing, picked up the melody in a deep alto, and the others soon followed.

Chicago Thugs Kill Another

Chicago, June 20 (P).—Chicago Heights gangsters slew their seventeenth victim in two years of warfare in that suburb when they shot down Joseph Lauer, 50 year old boarding house keeper, last night.

Lauer was standing in front of his house talking when four men fired on him with shotguns and pistols from a passing automobile. He fell dead as his 18 year old daughter came running down the steps toward him.

Three weeks ago Herman Carrelli, bailiff of the Chicago Heights City Court, was shot down in a similar manner.

Although recognizing the methods of the gangsters, the suburban and county police were at a loss to find a motive for the Lauer slaying. So far as they know he had no underworld connections.

Drinks Bottle of Poison.

Massena, N. Y., June 20 (P).—Anna Mae Drake, 29, died here late last night after drinking nearly a whole bottle of poison. Her suicide occurred within a few minutes after a young man whom she had been keeping company had bid her good bye. She had threatened before to take her life, her mother said.

Fined $30 for Disorderly Conduct

Robert Johnson of East Kingston was found guilty of disorderly conduct on Sunday by Judge Walter Whetzel of the town of Ulster and fined $30, which was paid.

Johnson was charged with being there supervising the work in the arena and making a study of the orange growing industry.

Mr. Carl is survived by his wife, Lucinda Williams, three daughters, Catherine Elizabeth, wife of F. F. Fennenden, Esther C. wife of H. H. Fennenden, and one son, W. Anderson Carl of Kingston.

Fraternally Mr. Carl was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & M. since 1890, a member of M. H. H. Chapter, No. 77, Royal Arch Masons, R. D. M. Chapter, No. 52, Knights Templar, Chapter 512 of the Shrine and of the Kingston Club. He became a Mason while engaged in business at Leadville, Colorado, in the early sixties before engaging in business in Kingston. Funeral services will be held at the St. James M. E. Church on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. The Rev. J. Wilbur Teller, pastor, will officiate. Interment will be in the Kingston cemetery. Masonic services will be held

Governor Clinton Annex Justified

Necessity for Its Existence Justified by Occupancy of Its Rooms—Report of Hotel Proves Satisfactory.

The Governor Clinton Annex is proving the necessity for its existence by being occupied nightly and frequently filled. Total room occupancy for the first half of June averaged 93.4 per cent. For the corresponding period last year the per cent was 70.8 May, 1927, percentage for the same number of days was 83.

The revenue from rooms on June 15 was $509.50, on May 16 $112.61 and on June 16, 1926, $375.50. The total room revenue June 1 to June 16, 1927, was $6,655.20; May 1 to May 16, 1927, was $5,433.14 and June 1, 1926 to June 16, 1926, was $4,880.50, showing a gain in room revenue alone for the first half of June amounting to $1,774.70 over that for the corresponding period a year ago. The revenue from the dining room and coffee shop shows a satisfactory progress as does the room revenues.

All records are kept with extreme exactness and the items are individually compared with daily records, not only with respect to the business, and expense of previous days of the same week, but also the expense of the same day of a month and a year ago and these are compared with the same items of revenue and expense in the other hotels of the same size in the American Hotel Corporation chain, the Governor Clinton leading all in its class nearly every month.

Tangle Caused by Recluse's Death

Brooklyn Man's Will Void if He Died "Unnaturally" or Was Murdered—Killed by Gas Poisoning—Lehigh University Inheritance Depends on Interpretation.

The will of Capt. Charles Francis King, seventy-year-old recluse, who was found dead in his home at No. 47-49 Prospect street, Brooklyn, June 9, of gas poisoning, was filed for probate Friday in the surrogate's court in Brooklyn. With the will were filed two codicils, the original of a third has not been found.

Capt. King was reputed to be worth more than $1,000,000. Search for his bank accounts and securities has not been completed, and consequently the petition estimated his real estate at $14,000, consisting of the house in which he died, and his personal estate at "more than $10,000."

By his will, dated May 8, 1924, Capt. King left his entire estate in trust to his daughter, Pearl M. King of Harrisburg, Pa., and provided that at her death the income should go to Lehigh University, of which he was a graduate engineer, to pay the tuition of poor and proficient students in the departments of chemistry and engineering.

The first codicil named the Public National Bank and Trust Company of New York executor and trustee. The second codicil provided that if the testator did not die a natural death or if he were killed by some person, the will should become void. The validity of the will rests upon the interpretation of the phrase "a natural death."

The executor has a copy of the third codicil, dated December 22, 1925. In this the testator provided that another daughter, Josephine King Tiller of West Hurley, Ulster county, N. Y., should share equally with the other daughter named in the will.

H. G. Kopold, of counsel for the bank, said a search is being made for the original of this codicil. Meanwhile, he said, application will be made for the appointment of a temporary administrator.

Wants Doctors On Health Board

Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey has offered the appointments to two doctors to become members of the health board to fill recent vacancies caused by the death of Dr. E. E. Norwood and the resignation of Samuel S. Brown.

Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb and Dr. Joseph J. Jacobson have been offered the posts. Their acceptances have not yet been received.

Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday At High School

City Clergy Take Part in Service Which Marks Opening of Commencement Week at Kingston High School—Large Audience Present—Sermon Delivered by Dr. Boeve.

The Commencement exercises for the graduating class of 1927 of Kingston High School were inaugurated on Sunday evening with the Baccalaureate sermon in the high school auditorium. The auditorium was completely filled with the members of the Class of 1927, their high school mates, parents and friends, who listened to an excellent and inspiring service and sermon, prefaced by quiet and appropriate music played by the high school orchestra.

At the appointed time the clergy of the city with Principal Van Ingen, who acted as master of ceremonies, and members of the board of education marched to the stage while the more than a hundred young people of the class filed into their places in the center of the auditorium, making a truly inspiring audience to preach to.

The program opened with the invocation given by the Rev. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, after which the hymn, "Come Thou Almighty King," was sung by the entire assembly. Prayer was offered by the Rev. C. B. Smith, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, after which a violin solo was played by one of the high school students, Frederick Broadie, accompanied by Samuel D. Scudder, Jr., at the piano.

The scripture reading was given by the Rev. William Poyntell Kemper, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, who read from the fourth chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, beginning with the seventeenth verse (according to the Revised Version).

After singing "How Firm a Foundation," the Baccalaureate sermon, which was listened to with closest attention, was preached by the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Church.

The services were brought to a close with the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and the pronouncing of the benediction by the Rev. J. Wilbur Teller, pastor of the St. James M. E. Church.

Dr. Boeve's Sermon.

The subject of Dr. Boeve's sermon was The Call of Conquering Age to Courageous Youth, and he said:

"I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong." I John 2:14.

This text is a message of age to youth. It is the gospel of experience to enthusiasm. It is the advice of a saintly and venerable, but resolute and optimistic old man to those whom he calls and would ordain as his successors. "I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong."

St. John sits in the soft and mellow glow of the sunset of old age. He is the last surviving member of the glorious company of twelve apostles. One by one they have finished their work and won the martyr's crown. John alone is left. His has been a great career. In enterprise and aggressiveness, he was a veritable Boanerges, an impassioned son of Thunder. He has endured privation and hardship, loneliness and exile. He has done his work, and now his course is almost run. Soon for him will sound the final roll call and the voice of the Great Commander giving him his last discharge.

But John's flaming blood is undimmed. His zeal would baptize a new generation with holy ardor. Ere he dies, he would make sure that the battle is to go on, and so he looks about for those whom he may muster to the task. He summons youth to fall into line and march on to conquest. "I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong."

Surely send a call from such a man to such a class at such a time and for such a cause is irresistible. Against the call of conquering age to courageous youth, deliver us, O Lord, from every temptation to fear, to timidity, to inactivity.

The Call to Youth.

There is a call to youth. Here is an old man who believes in courage, courage that God does not wish to give. He believes in the worth of youth in the world, and in the duties that youth has to perform. He believes in the value of youth in the world, and in the duties that youth has to perform.

In these days of doubt about the soundness of John's position, the hope of the world is in its youth. The same concerning modern youth are many and highly involved. What are some of them? Tell bubbled here in the past. Many are the questions that have been asked and answered and have been asked and answered and have been asked and answered.

DAVE'S TID BITS

Ask for Dave. D. KANTROWITZ.

Say, it's a darn shame the way it has to rain every Saturday or Sunday. Naturally we sell a lot of Slickers and Rain Clothing after a rain but say Sunday is the only chance we have to get out in the air.

And as an after thought with the present style in fashion of exploring new ways in the air and exploring here and there, it wouldn't be a bad idea for all of us to get out and explore a little more of nature.

Of course again we can add that if there is anything at all that you need in Camp Clothing or Camp Cots, Cutlery and Equipment we imagine that it would pay you to stop over to see us.

A. T. & T. Crew Guests at Banquet

A farewell banquet was given Sunday evening at the Van-Ross hotel, Crown street, by Messrs Lovin and McDonough, proprietors, who had as their guests Superintendent Andrew Swenden who with fourteen employees of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company have been stopping at the hotel.

They have been employed installing trunk line cables in this section and are all skilled workers. A fine menu had been specially prepared for the occasion, there being seven courses. Carl Werner, foreman of the men, was selected as toastmaster and after ice cream and cigars he thanked in behalf of Mr. Swenden and the crew, Messrs Lovin and McDonough for the kind treatment during the four months spent at the Van-Ross and for the excellent banquet.

The toastmaster called on others, who spoke, and the proprietors told of their appreciation of the gentlemanly ways the men had acted while guests at the hotel. The crew will make their headquarters at Saugerties for a time.

Local Products For Foreign Ports

Export shipments keep up steadily with the Universal Road Machinery Company of this city, with orders for their products coming in nearly every week for foreign parts.

On Saturday the local concern received an order for a complete 8x14 crushing outfit from W. R. Grace & Company of New York city, to be sent to Brazil by Wednesday's steamer, and the same was loaded on cars and left Kingston today. During this week a 10x15 portable plant and bins, ordered by Kevin & Company of New York city, will be sent to Spanish contractors at Porto Rico. This makes the fourth plant of this size sent to these parties within a year.

Among other shipments this month are a 11x20 portable crusher and 30 ton bins for the town of Gardiner and an outfit of the same size for the town of Lloyd.

The Universal also sold a 42 in. by 20 ft. screen to the Essex county penitentiary at Caldwell, N. J.; a 24 in. by nine ft. screen to the Galton Iron Works for a contractor at Columbus, Ohio, and a porcupine scarifier to Loder & Sharp of Philadelphia. They also sold a 15 ft. span iron bridge to the town of Rochester in this county.

Pageant Rehearsal For Kingstonians

For those Kingston people who take special parts in the Pageant there will be a rehearsal on the Pageant grounds back of the driving part at 7 o'clock on Friday evening of this week.

This is not a rehearsal for those who are to represent the populace in any of the scenes. It is for those who play Governor Clinton and his staff, the ones who take special parts in the inauguration scene, officers of the British and Continental armies, the leaders who organized the various groups from the churches and the Colonial wedding party.

The rehearsal is set for early evening so that those who are busy during the day may be present. The daylight does not last long so please be prompt.

Plan Development At Port Ewen

Lewis C. Conn has covered the 96-acre farm with the front on the Port Ewen railroad station road and bordering on the railroad for approximately one quarter of a mile to Anthony Sarno, Cosmo Morena, and Anthony Morena, retired merchants of New York city, through the real estate agencies of Nathaniel B. Gross, 309 Wall street, and Sam N. Mann, 12 East Strand.

The sale was made for the cash consideration of $14,000. The new owners will take possession on July 1 and plan to subdivide half the tract into building lots and erect a number of attractive bungalows and cottages. The entire property is less than three minutes' walk from the Port Ewen station and one-quarter of a mile from the village.

More Onions, Less Lettuce

Albany, N. Y., June 20 (P)—An increase of two per cent over last year in the onion average planted in New York state and an increase of 22 per cent over that harvested was indicated today in a state-federal report by Charles S. Sperle, truck crop specialist, issued by the department of agriculture and markets.

Lettuce average however is about eight per cent below that of last year in the counties of western and central New York which grow three-fourths of the commercial average. Last year's average was 7,200.

Box Seats Half Sold for Pageant

One-half of the box seat reservations for the Pageant have already been sold, according to announcement at the Home Bureau headquarters on Wall street. People desirous of viewing the Pageant from a box should make arrangements at once.

FOURTH ATTEMPT TO DESTROY WATERWAY.

Los Angeles, June 20 (P)—Owens valley, scene of a water war between ranchers and the city of Los Angeles, today echoed defiance at peace officers, who sought to lay responsibility for still another dynamiting apparently intended to damage the great aqueduct system upon which more than 1,000,000 persons depend for water.

The latest blasting occurred yesterday, when a charge of explosive, planted in spite of the watchfulness of scores of armed guards, blew out a sixteen foot section of a concrete lined ditch two miles south of Lone Pine.

The blast, which was felt in Lone Pine, did not materially impair the operation of the aqueduct, officials reported.

HOW EVERYBODY CAN HELP ADVERTISE PAGEANT

Every citizen of Kingston, especially the business houses, from now until June 30 can do much to advertise the Ulster County Pageant if they will add a postscript to all of their letters inviting all to come to Kingston on that day.

This postscript might read as follows:

We cordially invite you to visit Kingston on June 30 when the Ulster County Pageant is to be presented.

Local Clubs Booming Pageant

The Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of Kingston are taking an active interest in the Ulster County Pageant to be staged in Kingston on Thursday, June 30, and both clubs have sent out considerable literature to other clubs in New York and vicinity states inviting the members of the clubs to be in Kingston that day.

The Kiwanis Club has mailed out 10,000 of these letters to the one hundred Kiwanis Clubs in New York and neighboring states describing the Pageant and inviting Kiwanians to meet with the local club at its regular weekly luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel the day of the Pageant.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception Saturday and Sunday was noisy at times but strong. There was much spluttering and rattling Saturday evening, due to local interference. Strong stations Saturday evening were WSM, WTAM, WSAJ, WGBS, WLS, WJR, WTCH, WWSB and WWVA, a new one which brings Ye Listener's total score to 235. WSM and WLS showed a disposition to squeal at one another.

WOO and WTIC were added to the usual daylight stations on Sunday. In the early evening there was a lot of rattling and splutter, especially from 5 to 6, which cleared up later. WGBS, WLS and WSAJ were good and WTAM was as good as it used to be. "In the good old days" when less than 200 stations were on the air, the new deal has surely been of benefit to WTAM, WJR, WLS, WWSB and the Montreal stations. It does not seem to have done much for KDKA, the Boston stations and the southern stations excepting WSEA.

The American Smokers, a quartet of well known concert artists, will broadcast the American Kent Sunday night concert June 24, over a network of twelve stations from WTAM, WTFL and the Montreal stations. It does not seem to have done much for KDKA, the Boston stations and the southern stations excepting WSEA.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 20, 1927.

Mr. Mencken of the American Mercury is all worried because the dull and mechanized newspaper of today has made of the journalist a white-collared slave. "A racy and original personality was once his chief asset; it is now as dangerous to him as it would be to a Cistercian brother." The newspaper man always was a slave to his job, though in the early days he often lacked the white collar. So long as editors are murdered for their courage we feel that the profession is not wholly decadent. And we can't seem to get excited about the lack of racy and original personalities in the newspaper field (as long as we have William Allen White and hundreds of less widely known personalities).

SWIMMING.

One learns from educational journals from those countries that swimming is taught in many of the public schools of Australia and New Zealand. It is considered of educational importance as well as an excellent and healthful exercise and sport. Swimming really seems to be coming into deserved popularity these days. In this country swimming is a year-round pastime. There are indoor pools in the north which are as busy all through the cold months as any beloved old swimmer's hole on a hot summer afternoon.

Swimming is no longer confined to regions with natural lakes and streams. Indoor and outdoor pools are constructed in many towns that are far from any natural body of water. Expert instruction is widely offered and eagerly accepted.

Swimming suits are scant but sensible nowadays, and they are usually used for swimming. All the old jokes about bathing beauties on the beach who never go near the water will have to be revised, because swimming and diving are the fashion now, and the lounging on the sand in the sunshine is only a sensible and healthful accompaniment to actual and merry participation in water sports.

MOTHERS.

On Charles Lindbergh's day of glory in New York the metropolitan newspaper reporters, in force, surrounded the boy's mother and tried to draw her out. It was a rare opportunity for any woman. She was raised to a pinnacle along with her famous son. Any word from her would go around the world and be read by tens of millions. And a little self-exploitation, conscious or unconscious, might well be pardoned in any woman at such a moment.

The press account of that interview is illuminating and eloquent in its testimony to what Mrs. Lindbergh did not say. She smiled, and gently parried the reporters' eager questions.

"Will your son's success have any effect on your teaching plans?" There was much involved in that question. It went to the heart of things. It involved a test of character. "I have signed my contract," replied the mother quietly. So she goes back to her job.

A young hero's mother, whom the world suspects of being considerable of a hero herself, had the world's ear turned to her, and did not speak. No self-exploitation there! All the glory was for her son. But then, mothers are like that. And nothing can be done about it.

TREES AND TELEPHONES.

A telephone company leaflet remarks that perhaps the vital and necessary part trees play in telephone service after their death is as a guarantee that they must pay for the trouble and interruptions that they cause to good telephone service during their life.

It seems that a living tree, owing to the sap, is a conductor of electricity and when it touches telephone wires it steals from them some of the current necessary to carry the message. The normal amount of current is so small that any drain makes a difference in volume and quality of transmission. The telephone company says:

A single leaf, wet from a summer's rain, touching our wires, might, and many of them would, make your message calling the doctor unintelligible to him. A branch falling into the wires may interrupt a message to you that has successfully traveled thousands of miles.

For these and similar reasons, the telephone company has to trim trees, to give good service. The company says it has adopted as standard practice the most modern tree methods, and it asks property owners to follow the same methods, thus preserving the trees and telephone service both.

Explanations of this sort from public utility companies are very valuable. They prevent many of the petty bickerings between customers and members of the company in positions where no discretion can be permitted. They create better feeling between customer and company, and enable them to cooperate with each other for the common good.

ENGINEERING THE WORLD.

Sir Herbert Ames former financial director of the League of Nations, was one of the commencement speakers who make, at this time of year, such vital contributions to the nation's thought. "We live in a world largely created by the engineer," said Sir Herbert. "The telegraph, the radio, the airplane and a host of other mechanical inventions have changed the character of our civilization and given us a mechanistic age. The engineer who brought all this about must now assume the responsibility of helping to solve the political problems growing out of the world he has created."

This is a new and hopeful way of putting the fact looked upon so gloomily by so many of the critics of our present times. It is true that our political and social methods have lagged far behind our engineering devices. Scolding the politician because he has not caught up with the procession solves no problems. The solution is bringing the engineering mind to bear upon social and political problems—setting up in the minds of the people the fact that the universe is founded on law, and that the laws of nature prove every day the profound truths that as a man sows so shall he reap, and that he who sows the wind shall reap the whirlwind.

Instead of assuming that graft and waste are the inevitable concomitants of government, the engineering mind will face government with the point of view that all problems can be solved, and no problem is solved until it is solved right, and that as nature abhors the vacuum, so the man who works with nature abhors, also, all waste and unscientific method in public halls as well as in laboratories.

SLENDER GIRLS.

One of our health magazines is bemoaning the craze for slenderness that has swept over the country.

It is pointed out, and rightly too, that the growing girl needs all her strength as she approaches womanhood, and that if she cuts down on her food intake in an effort to keep "slim," then not only her health at present, but her whole future health is endangered.

"Observers are reporting increased tuberculosis rates among girls in early adult life, due largely to reduced vitality caused in turn by lack of proper diet."

Now what about this? Unfortunately it is only too true, and our girls seem to rejoice at the loss of a pound, or the reduction of one-eighth of an inch from the ankle.

Now that the majority of our middle aged folks are too heavy, that overweight and protruding abdomen are only too common, must be admitted, but middle aged folks have attained their growth and strength and are in a sort of stationary condition, whereas "the functions of growing girls must be maintained at all cost, and if insufficient nutriment is provided, the difference must be made up from such reserves as are available."

And growing girls cannot afford to draw upon their reserves, because every ounce may be needed in the days that are to come.

What is the result of this under-eating? These girls feel tired all the time, sore throats and colds are frequent, and an ordinary ailment hangs on.

Why? Because food is necessary not only for heat and energy, but also for growth at this time.

This is the reason that the growing girl or boy needs as much food as not more food than the parents. You see the surface of the body is almost as great in extent as that of the parent, thus requiring as much food, and in addition there is the food necessary for growth. However, fortunately to be fashionable for the coming year, a little more weight must be carried, because as mentioned before, Florent Zeigfeld states that he does not want such "slender" girls for his show as he has been using the past two or three years.

This announcement will likely have a greater effect upon our girls than all the talking that parents or health specialists can ever give. They will not be afraid to eat now.

MODENA.

Modena, June 20.—A great many people from this place attended the dedication services, and the roast beef supper held at Plattekill Grange Hall Thursday evening. A splendid time was reported by all.

Miss Leah Hasbrouck, who has been attending school at Hacketts-town, N. J., has returned to her home here for summer vacation.

Miss Myrtle Thompson of Clinton-dale was a guest of Miss Marguerite Smith Thursday evening.

William Crawshaw of Newburgh was in this place last week.

Interesting Suit In Old Wildwyck

Both Parties Asked Damages But Local Court Rendered Solomon-Like Judgment in Favor of Neither.

(By A. H. Van Buren.)

Court was in session. The Schepens: Evert Pels, Cornelis Barentsen Sleght and Elbert Heymans Roosa, were on the bench, which consisted of a plank resting upon the butts of two trees which served as a desk, and behind it a wider and thicker plank also resting on the butts of trees which was the wool-sack. The Schepens wore their everyday clothes, the gowns and wigs not having arrived.

Schout, Roeloff Swartwout, stood immediately in front of the bench adorned with Indian moccasins, leather breeches and shirt, a belt of wampum for a baldric, and not having a silver-plated rapier, he held a club in his hand, his hat was the skin of a beaver, the tall drooping gracefully down his back. All the settlers were present, including Kit Davis and Domine Blom.

The first case on the calendar was Robberdt, plaintiff, against Jan Garretsen, defendant, to recover damages for running over, and thereby killing the pig of plaintiff. Plaintiff being duly sworn, testified, as near as I can translate the Dutch, as follows:

"My only pig, a year and four months old, a quiet and well-behaved pig, who would harm no one, was peacefully sleeping in front of my house, near the path that leads to the strand. Jan, and his wife Hillegonda, were in his cart drawn by his ox. When near my pig Jan called, pig, pig, suck, suck, suck, which woke my pig up, and thinking he was being called to dinner, he got up and ran towards the cart of Jan; whereupon Jan hit his ox a clip with his long leather whip and yelled, Gee, Gee, Gee; whereat his ox, being well-trained, rushed to the right at my pig; and before my pig could get out of the way the cart ran over him, he gave an outcry and he was dead. Jan never tried to stop but let his ox gallop on. My pig was a very fat pig and was worth at least five guilders and four silvers in seaweed."

Tryntje, wife of Jan, testified, according to my translation, as follows: "I was churning my milk, getting ready to slop our calf, by our back kitchen door, when I heard our pig squeal as if he was in pain. I ran to the front of our house and saw Jan and Hillegonda in their cart drawn by Jan's ox racing down the path that leads to the strand. Jan was licking his ox, and yelling, Gee, Gee, Gee. Our pig lay upon the ground near the path. He was squashed and smashed, he did not breathe, and he was dead. I brought him up on the bottle and expected in the fall to make sausage, ham and bacon out of him."

The plaintiff then rested his case. Jan Garretsen, sworn in his own behalf, testified, in the same kind of translation as follows: "I and my wife Hilte, were driving in our ox cart down the path that leads to the strand. When nearly opposite the house of Bob I heard his wife churning. Bob's pig, which lay on the ground, near the path, suddenly jumped up and rushed towards us. In order to get around the pig I yelled, Gee, Gee, Gee to my ox, but the ox being frightened by the pig, ran straight on, and I suppose I ran over the pig, but I am not sure because we were going quite fast. I have known Bob's pig ever since he was born and he wasn't worth over a guilder. My ox ran so fast, being frightened by the pig, that he strained his left hind leg, his heart is bad, and he isn't worth much to me now."

Hillegonda, the wife of Jan, testified that she saw her husband, also, "that when she saw the pig galloping towards the cart, she cried to her husband to look out for the pig, whereupon he yelled Gee, Gee, Gee, to make our ox go to the right, and so around the pig, but the ox being skinned nearly to death by the pig he galloped straight on. I didn't hear any pig squeal."

There being no further testimony the Schepens retired for consultation and at the end of an hour returned and ascended the bench. Schout Swartwout commanded, "Silence. Listen to the judgment of the Honorable Court."

The following unanimous decision of the court (same kind of translation): "It is admitted by both parties that the pig of plaintiff is dead and did not willfully commit suicide. Therefore it is clear that the pig must have been killed by some one in some way, and we are of opinion that the death of the pig was caused by the cart of Jan running over him. But the serious question is, did Jan deliberately and willfully cause his cart to run over the pig, or was it purely accidental, or did the pig, being suddenly awakened from his slumber, and leaving the cart, jump out and become a call to dinner for him, and being not quite awake rush towards the cart? We think it unnecessary to decide this perplexing question as we can make out exact justice between the parties without doing so. It is true that the pig of plaintiff is dead, but he still has the carcass from which sausage, ham, and bacon can be made, not as much as if the pig had become a hog, and therefore the plaintiff has sustained some damage. But the testimony of the defendant that his ox was damaged by his being skinned by the pig is uncontradicted, and therefore we are of the opinion that such damage offsets the damage sustained by the plaintiff, therefore we give no damages to either party, and do decide, adjudge and determine that the plaintiff and defendant pay cost of suit, each one-half, being one guilder for each Schepen, and two silvers for Schout Swartwout."

life bootlegging are yet other facts. If we are to believe the Metropolitan press, which is not on the side of a Puritanic attitude toward morals, then the cabaret and the dance hall and a part of the stage are not particularly conducive to the cultivation of a wholesome and strong moral character. One of our great preachers and a hero of the youth of our land, recently admitted that the times in which we live are full of menace for civilization because of the perils surrounding and claiming youth.

But granted that the facts above are true. Are these all the facts? Are all young people common? No! Emphatically no! Comparatively few are. Granted that there has been an increase in juvenile delinquency, a lowering of moral barriers, a lessening of religious interest on the part of some. Normal youth has centers of resistance as deep as those of any age; hidden sources of power to withstand the foe as great as those of their fathers; reserves of adventure and devotion to a cause that will dwarf the feats and accomplishments of the past.

Acclaim the Faithful.

Suppose a banker now and then defaults. Are there not thousands that remain faithful and honest? What if the headlines proclaim the infidelity and disloyalty of some husband or wife, are there not the vast company of husbands and wives that are true and devoted and virtuous? What if a preacher of the gospel betrays his trust? Are there not thousands who hold inviolate their vows? What if a literary man misuses his genius to pandering and cater to the lower, baser passions of men? Are there not the thousands who devote their talent to advance the beautiful, the pure and the holy things in life? Granted that there are young people who sell their birthright of health and chastity, are there not hundreds of thousands who hold fast their virtue and their faith? All honor to these! Instead of slandering them let us acclaim them!

Dear young people, we believe in you. We believe in your worth, your rights, your duties, your glorious possibilities. We do not forget that youth in the more remote past has met the challenges presented to them; neither do we forget that your older brothers, only a few years ago, clad in khaki, shouldered their rifles, marched in ranks and companies and regiments as Knights of the twentieth century, as defenders of our faith, as pathfinders of a new era of idealism which, please God, shall never die. They went forth "to break their lances upon the distant fields of Europe." They journeyed for the rights of the helpless and as defenders of the weak. They rode to crush the iron hand of militarism and to end the sway of kings. They dared and died to vindicate the right of right. That war stands as a stupendous spectacle of modern youth, youth in consecration of limb and life and soul, the like of which the world had never seen. If the aged apostle had witnessed that band of Crusaders five million strong he would have penned the same words, "I write unto you, young men, because ye are strong."

Strength.

Youth possesses certain natural elements of strength, which age, as a rule, has lost. Youth cherishes vision. The great apostle, quoting the prophets of old, said: "Your sons and daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions." Vision is necessary if we are to accomplish anything in life. Vision lies back of progress and advancement. Vision of better things tunnels rivers and mountains. The splendid achievements in engineering and construction that we witness all around us; the bettering of social and industrial conditions; the gigantic undertakings in the educational world; the great missionary enterprises and projects undertaken by Church of Christ—what are these but the results of vision? All these lived in men's brains before they were translated into realization. Youth is the time for vision.

Daring.

Youth also has daring, and a certain amount of daring is necessary for great achievement. There is always a degree of recklessness about world builders and pioneers. They are bold and venturesome. They attempt the impossible. What a striking example the world has had recently of that spirit! Youth refuses to see difficulties or to consider the possibility of failure. Age grows cautious and puts on the brakes; but youth rushes in where angels fear to tread, and, by sheer audacity, conquers.

Enthusiasm.

Youth has enthusiasm. It is all askew. Age finds it hard to keep up enthusiasm. Age grows cold and skeptical and unsentimental sometimes, but a youth with a cynical spirit is almost an anomaly.

Enthusiasm is a holy thing. "Enthos" is a Greek word, meaning "fall of God." The early church had it. The Crusaders had it. The young people who enlisted under a common banner and for a great cause, enthusiastically manifested it. The apostles had it. Listen to one who was burning with it. "Who shall separate us from the love of God? Shall tribulation or persecution, or dearth or sword? Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors." He faces life undaunted.

For he knows that neither life nor death nor things present nor things to come shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus.

We believe in the final triumph of righteousness in this world, whole-vation of Schepens Cornelis Barentsen Sleght, the whole crowd went to the Sleght's brewery and duly and enthusiastically celebrated. Jan and Bob shook hands, Hillegonda and Tryntje embraced with tears of joy, and Domine Schepens raised his hands, said "Blessed are the peacemakers."

heartedly, enthusiastically you young people will do your part in bringing it about. The weapons in this warfare are not carnal. They do not destroy men's lives—they save them. They are weapons of instruction and persuasion, of nurture and culture, of moral appeal and of right example, which become mighty through God for the pulling down of the strongholds of evil.

This is your commencement. Some of you will continue your studies in colleges or university. It will not be long before all of you will go forth and claim your share in the world's work. You will have to make good by producing some of those goods which society demands. You will go out to be merchants, or engineers, or doctors, or lawyers, or teachers, or preachers, or editors, or social workers, or nurses, or musicians, or architects, or homemakers or secretaries, or do any one of a hundred things which call for the energy and push and fervor of people. You will have to be producers, then as well as consumers of the world's goods.

Here in this Kingston High School you have been drilling for that field of action. How will you make your approach to that field? In what mood and temper? What sort of aims and purposes are you forming and cherishing? What have not these teachings done, not only in the way of intellectual stimulus and mental discipline and development, but in the building of character, the cultivation of winsome womanhood and strong, and virile manhood to help you meet the demand of life? I am satisfied that these teachers have endeavored, conscientiously, to help you and that you will not disappoint them nor your parents. You have been learning and you will continue to learn to live wisely and nobly, joyously and endlessly, to know here and now that not by self-seeking but by self-sacrifice, that not by being slaves to circumstance but conquerors of it, that not by locating your supreme good in outer things but in inner worth, do men achieve. In a word—"Seek first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness"—then the Master of all the higher values will add to you that which has supreme and lasting worth.

What an age this incredible present is! What calls to service! What a challenge to youth! And what opportunities! "Let no one despise your youth!"

Forty years ago there came to the city of Lincoln, Nebraska, a young Lieutenant recently out of West Point to take charge of the few men students of the University of Nebraska and organize them into a cadet battalion. About that time there came to the same city a young man from his home in the east, a callow youth looking for a job; not always able to find satisfactory employment a young fellow loaned him five dollars to tide him over his difficulties. He finally became a teller in a little bank and started his career. Forty years ago! The young Lieutenant was John J. Pershing, and the teller was Charles Daves. John J. Pershing, the leader of America's part in the military phases of the World War, Charles Daves, the leader of America's part in the financial phases of World Peace.

When these two youths stood on the street corner of that small western city, it would have been thought utterly incredible that they would become the mighty world figures that they have become, rendering the invaluable service they have rendered to the cause of liberty and civilization.

"State, wouldst thou win youth in to thy service? Call him not then with rich emoluments and pomp of office. But dare him, rather to risk his fortune."

To burn behind him the bridge of mammon.

And, toil and pain and loss and death embracing.

To win for thee thy glorious future. Church, wouldst thou win youth for thy service?

Call him not with plaintive music and soothing sermon: Invite him not with sectarian difference:

Never for him expunge and soften the words of Jesus:

But gird on him the sword and buckler.

And send him forth with trumpet and sounding

The call of Christ's crusade."

An Evening Wrap Garlanded with Milliner's Roses Is a Fair Sight, and Full-Skirted Organdy Frocks Carry Out the Spirit of Youth.

New York.—The summer dance frock should have daintiness as its main object. The girl who looks cool and fresh and sweet has rather an edge on the girl who is inclined toward formal elegance at a country-club dance.

Having scored with the net gown, usually smartly frilled and somewhat reminiscent of a ballet skirt, though scarcely so short, even in this age of extremes, the couture are putting forth for the various graduations and summer wedding festivities, the organdy frock, crisp and cool and youthful.

Naturally the organdy frock is full—a skimpy one would be quite out of keeping with the character of the material—but while it is inclined toward the picturesque outline of the robe de style, it is not of necessity long. When long, the hem is

A graceful wrap made of taffeta and garlanded with organdy roses is shown as a summer night suggestion. It is, like so many of the most approved wraps, sturdier than the gown it so charmingly protects. LET US EAT MORE FISH

As fish as a class are a safeguard against mineral deficiencies in the diet it follows that they deserve more attention than they have had from scientists and dietitians from this point of view. Our country is abundantly supplied with all kinds of fish, and very few fresh or salt water fish are not palatable and good food.

Here are a few things which will be well to remember in regard to this great food.

Slow cooking of fish after it has once started to cook, keeps it tender, sweet as well as retaining the food value of it.

Unwrap fish at once, wash quickly in salted water and wipe dry. Do not allow fish to lay in the water an instant as the cut surface of fish absorbs water very rapidly. This spoils the flavor as well as changing the quality of the meat for cooking.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper (using plenty), wrap in waxed paper (the kind that is wrapped around butter) and put in the ice box, where it will keep for twenty-four hours.

Bits of fish may be added to an omelet, soup or chowder. With various sauces to serve with cooked fish there will never be monotony in serving it.

Where similar varieties of fish are mentioned, one may use the same recipe for any of them. It is not necessary because you have a whitefish to cook that a recipe calling for whitefish should be used.

Baked Weakfish With Raisins. Split the fish and lay on a well buttered dish. Cover with slices of tomato. Pour over the whole two tablespoons of butter, melted. Season with salt and pepper and cover with finely minced parsley. Sew seedless raisins in the pan around the fish, add one-fourth cupful of water and one-fourth cupful of vinegar. Pour this around the fish, bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

NANCY'S BRAVERY

"Oh, Daddy," cried Nancy, as she heard the front door close, "come up here quickly, hurry."

"There is a huge spider in the room, and I am so frightened I don't know what to do!"

Daddy hurried upstairs and found Nick trying to comfort Nancy by telling her not to be a "fraud cut," but Nancy refused to be comforted in such a way.

When Daddy reached the room he found her very near the door and as far from the window as possible.

"There he is on the window sill, walking round and round with a piece of thread, and he is so big!"

"You know," said Daddy, after he had watched the spider for a moment, "when I was a little boy the one thing I was frightened of was a spider, so Nick mustn't make fun of you, for you see even little boys aren't always so very brave."

"One morning I got up very early to find some cocoons I thought were in the orchard."

"It took some time to find them, and I had to hurry back with them to the nursery before I could even find a box to put them in, as I knew I would be late for school if I stopped any longer."

"When noon came I hurried home as fast as I could, and what was my horror when I found an awful spider had begun to spin a web around my treasures."

"I was too afraid of the spider to take away the cocoons, and for several days I did not go near that part of the room, but I began to find he wasn't such a terrifying creature, after all, and I finally watched him with the greatest interest."

"He was a very hard worker, and when busy nothing could disturb him. His web grew and grew, and looked very fine when it was finished."

"In a day or so he brought his family to their new home, and meantime the cocoons were sleeping peacefully underneath."

"In time they turned out to be the most beautiful butterflies, and strangely enough, yet quite truly, they had evidently enjoyed their home with the spider, for they looked so flourishing."

"After that I was never again afraid of spiders, for I realized they were very industrious, and, best of all, they were so hospitable to the cocoon family."

"There are a great many different kinds of spiders, and all of them are interesting."

"Wherever we go we seem to find their webs, and you can tell by the kind of web the sort of spider that made it."

Nancy was so delighted to find that Daddy had once been afraid of a spider that she began to lose her fear, and she walked nearer and nearer to the spider, watching him carefully as he was building.

"And now you're not afraid any more," said Daddy, "are you?"

"No," Nancy cheerfully replied. Nick beamed with pride at his sister's courage.

"I'm not afraid of spiders, and neither is Nancy," he said. "Nancy has lots of bravery."

Where Best Fighter Lived
Junior and his father were out walking. "There's the house," said Junior, "where the third best fighter in our room lives."

"Well, well," said father, absently. "And there," Junior pointed out a nearby bungalow, "is where the second best fighter in our room lives."

"Indeed," answered father, as they turned in at their own gate. "And where, may I ask, does the first best fighter live?"

"Oh," said Junior, matter-of-factly, "he lives here."

Why the Baby Cried

Excellent Memory
"I hear that you won four prizes at school, is that true?"

"Yes."

"What were they for?"

"Well, one was for excellence of memory, but I forgot what the others were for."

Naval Conference Opens at Geneva

Delicate Questions Involved Through Its Convocation on Property of the League of Nations—American Minister to Switzerland Chosen Secretary General.

Geneva, June 20 (AP)—The convocation by the United States of the three-power naval conference at Geneva and, as it was afterwards arranged, on the property of the League of Nations, of which the United States is not a member, opened delicate questions touching the organization of the conference.

Great Britain and Japan as members of the League formally requested facilities for the conference, and Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League, promptly offered all facilities that the conferees thought they would need.

As this was a special conference limited to three powers, it was finally decided by the three nations to select a secretary general who would be a citizen of one of their countries. The choice soon fell upon Hugh R. Wilson, who had been appointed American minister to Switzerland only a month before the calling of the conference.

Since 1924, Wilson had been chief of the division of current information at the State Department in Washington, where he was in daily and sometimes nightly touch with the scores of newspaper correspondents. Wilson was born at Evanston, Illinois, in 1885, is a graduate of Yale, took post-graduate work at Paris, and began his career in business life at Chicago. His diplomatic life was inaugurated by serving as private secretary to the American Minister in Portugal. Then he became secretary successively at Guatemala, Buenos Aires, Berlin, Vienna, Bern and Tokyo. In Japan he was in close touch with the leading Japanese of the day, including Admiral Baron Saito, who is the chief Japanese delegate to the conference which opened today.

ROSENDALE.
Rosedale, June 20.—The Reformed Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. C. V. W. Bedford at Bloomington on Thursday afternoon. The meeting was opened by singing "Revive Us Again," after which Mrs. Bedford read a few verses from the fourteenth chapter of St. Luke's gospel and then after a few short prayers the reports of the previous meeting were read. Instead of the reading of Moslem women the members had the pleasure of listening to talks from Mrs. Bedford and Mrs. Chatterton who had been attending Synod the past week. Their talks were much enjoyed by all. After the meeting the hostess served cake and strawberries and fruit punch and a social hour was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ullrich have returned home from Florida where they spent the past winter.

Mrs. Isaac Gheer and Mrs. George Lefever of High Falls were callers in this place one day the past week.

Lloyd Lefever, who has been consigned to his home the past few days by illness, is much improved.

New York, June 20 (AP).—Speculators for the advance regained control of the price movement in today's stock market after an early period of irregularity, but trading was rather dull on the rally. Uncertainty over the change in broker's loans last week, the total of which will be made public by the federal reserve bank after the close of the market, tended to keep trading in check.

In view of the fact that the figures cover the week ended last Wednesday, and that a sharp reaction took place the day before, a decrease would naturally be expected but so much capital has been tied up of late in financing new security offerings that it is impossible to make estimates with any degree of accuracy. Renewal of the call money rate at 4 per cent, in view of the third consecutive deficit in clearing house reserve, tended to allay some uneasiness over the credit situation. Early losses of 1 to 3 points in many issues were substantially reduced or wiped out when a brisk demand developed for some of the high price specialties under the leadership of Houston Oil, which soared 8 points. Nearly a score new peak prices were established, the list including air reduction, American Banknote, American Steel Foundries, Sears Roebuck, Vivaudou Common and preferred, St. Paul preferred and Chicago and Alton preferred.

A stronger undertone also was noted for several of the food shares, particularly Continental Baking, National Biscuit and Postum Cereal. Renewed weakness of White Motors aroused fears for the safety of the $4 annual dividend on that stock. The Kansas City Southern Railroad, the first to report its May earnings, showed an increase of more than $45,000 in net income over the same month last year. Both the common and preferred stocks of the road advanced to new high levels for the year.

GIRL SWIMMERS MAY REST AT COXSACKIE.

Hudson, N. Y., June 20 (AP).—Bernice and Phyllis Zinsfeld, the 13 year old twin sisters who are swimming from Albany to New York, passed Sayre, about nine miles north of here at 12:45 p. m. today. It was believed that the girls would leave the water for a rest when they reached Coxsackie, about three miles below Sayre, on the opposite side of the Hudson river.

Democratizing at Keokuk.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in the Keokuk office of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, Miss Nellie Davenport, a home service director, will give a demonstration on the "Correct Cooking of Vegetables." At this week's meeting the housewife will be instructed in how to save labor and the flavor and valuable food constituents in vegetables can be saved, without the use of any special utensils.

Society Notes

Schlenker-Perks.

Paul R. Schlenker of Cementon and Miss Ella Perks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Perks of Saugerties, were married at noon Saturday in Trinity Church at Saugerties by the Rev. E. L. Howe. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by Miss Gertrude Mann, and Oscar Schlenker was best man. Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the bride's home and later Mr. and Mrs. Schlenker left for a wedding trip.

Garon-Van Keuren.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Van Keuren, No. 119 Lucas avenue, was the scene on Saturday afternoon, June 18, at four o'clock, of a lovely June wedding when Caroline Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Keuren, became the bride of Mrs. Charles Garon of this city. In the presence of some hundred guests. The home was beautifully decorated with oak leaves, smilax and laurel and other June flowers, a mass of the oak leaves and tall palms forming the setting for the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seelye, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church. The bride was most charming in her period gown of ivory white satin, tulle and chantilly lace, wearing a beautiful lace veil of rose point—an heirloom in the family. Both the gown and the veil were adorned with orange blossoms. The bride carried a shower bouquet of white roses and swansons. The matron of honor, Mrs. Albert Johnson of Utica, wore shell pink georgette over pink satin and carried an armful of snapdragons. The best man was Leo Turner of this city. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Julius Gifford at the piano. Following the serving of a wedding collation, Mr. and Mrs. Garon left by auto for a honeymoon trip to Quebec, and on their return will make their home at 119 Lucas avenue. There were guests present from Hudson, Newark, N. J., Utica, Schenectady, Winston, Conn., Allaben, Walton, and Saugerties.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

The following lodges hold regular meeting tonight:

Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, Broadway and Andrew street.

Division No. 4, A. O. H., 166 Broadway.

Franklin Lodge, No. 37, Knights of Pythias, 574 Broadway.

Rondout Lodge, No. 543, F. & A. M., Masonic Hall, East Strand.

Kingston Encampment, No. 125, I. O. O. F., 635 Broadway.

Right Worthy Bertha M. Baylor, district deputy grand matron, and Right Worthy Odell F. Johnston, assistant grand lecturer, will make their official visit to Clinton Chapter, O. E. S., on Friday evening, June 24. They will also officially visit Oasis Chapter, Prattville, on Tuesday evening, June 28.

Myrtle Court, No. 62, Order of the Amaranth, will hold its regular meeting at the Masonic lodge rooms, Strand and Broadway, Tuesday evening, at which time a class of candidates will be initiated. Mrs. Lillian Huhne will also be installed as district deputy of the 29th district. This will be the last meeting before the summer vacation. At the close of the meeting a social hour will be enjoyed and refreshments will be served.

Judea Shrine, No. 12, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, very appropriately celebrated their fifth anniversary at their stated meeting on Friday night. A ceremonial was conferred on a class of thirteen candidates, after which a most delightful program was given and a reception accorded Worthy High Priestess Alice M. Scarfield and Watchman of Shepherds Odell F. Johnston, who were honored at the supreme shrine held at Buffalo last month with supreme appointments. Mrs. Elizabeth Kieffer very beautifully sang several songs and Mrs. Kieffer and Mrs. Harriet Chidsey sang the new "Lindy Song," which was enthusiastically received. The White Shrine choir rendered in a beautiful manner several appropriate selections. During the reception Noble Prophetess Mrs. Martha C. Schantz of Highland spoke of the high honor that had been accorded to Judea Shrine this year in the appointment of its worthy high priestess as matron of honor of the supreme shrine. She told how appropriate it was that this, the highest honor that had as yet been accorded the shrine, should be given to the shrine while celebrating its fifth birthday. She then presented Worthy High Priestess Alice M. Scarfield with a beautiful white gold Green watch as an expression of the high esteem in which she is held by her members. Watchman of Shepherds Odell F. Johnston, supreme king's guard, received a gift of gold. Short addresses were given by the Past Worthy High Priestess Grace V. Merritt of Kingston, Mrs. Margaret O. Rooks of Newburgh and Flora L. Osterlander of Kingston and all spoke of the success and good work of Judea Shrine which in its five years has attained such success and still remains the only shrine between New York and Albany. After the meeting a birthday party was celebrated. After the guests, who numbered over two hundred, were seated at the banquet tables, the lights were all turned down and Mrs. Martha C. Schantz brought in a huge birthday cake with five lighted candles and a jolly celebration lasted until the wee hours of the morning. Guests were present from Ontario, Canada; Albany, N. Y.; Binghamton, Catskill, Ellenville, Saugerties, Highland, Newburgh, Middletown and other places.

OLD BOUCK WHITE FARM TO BECOME BAPTIST CAMP.

The old Bouck White farm in the Mt. Zion neighborhood at Marlborough, famed as the place where the rampant socialist got into the limelight after difficulties with his young French bride, has been transformed from a deserted farm to the scene of a summer camp. The place was purchased some three years ago by the Rev. P. J. Leonard, of the Harlem Baptist Church, New York city, who has had several buildings erected and will use it for a summer camp. Roy Davies, Marlborough contractor, has had a force of men busy remodeling the old house and studio, putting up three or four new buildings and constructing a bathing pool of about three acres.

Business Men to Meet.

There will be a very important meeting of the Downtown Business Men's Association on Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. in the rooms at 22 Ferry street. It is requested that every member be present.

When Glass Is Scratched

Slight scratches on glass may be partially polished out by rubbing the part with rouge wet with water upon a piece of soft leather. If it is a deep scratch, it will have to be ground out with the finest flour emery, such as is used by opticians, and the spot polished with rouge and water upon a piece of soft leather. If you have much of this kind of work to do, it will save time to set up a buff wheel of wood, and grind out the scratches with fine pumice stone and water; then polish with a felt buff and rouge with water.

Policeman Jacob H. Aley died at the Kingston City Hospital at 12:30 o'clock this morning of meningitis. Policeman Aley had not been in the best of health for the past year but a week ago his condition grew so serious that he was removed to the hospital where every effort was made to restore him to health. He was one of the most popular officers of the Kingston police department. He was appointed to the police force on June 1, 1922, during the Crane administration, and had proven one of the most efficient members of the department. He was a man of great physical strength and a man of intelligence as he ranked high when he took the civil service examination for the police force. During the five years he had been a member of the police department he became widely and favorably known and was always active in the performance of his duties and as an officer who could be relied upon to do his duty. Policeman Aley resided at No. 51 Summer street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mildred Fitch, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Platt Aley, and a brother, Guy Aley, all of this city.

OFFICERS SEIZE TRUCK LOAD OF AMMUNITION.

Los Angeles, June 20 (AP).—Three men were held here today on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal neutrality act, and a truck and trailer load of rifles and ammunition was under guard at San Pedro as the result of federal officers frustrating an alleged attempt to smuggle them into Mexico.

The contraband was located and taken under official guard about fifty miles north of Santa Barbara while en route to San Pedro, where it was to be loaded on a ship. The three men were arrested here yesterday by city detectives. They are John B. Maunserman, Guillermo Ponce, an attorney, and Ralph O. Sanders.

Picking Dempsey Sparring Staff

New York, June 20 (P).—Work of finding human targets for Jack Dempsey's "comeback" flits and a place for him to train was under way here today with the ex-champion expected tomorrow morning from the west. Dempsey meets Jack Sharkey July 21 at the Yankee Stadium for the chance to fight Gene Tunney for the world heavyweight championship.

Dempsey's advance man, Gus Wilson, lost no time in looking up a sparring staff. Visiting Stillman's gymnasium where Sharkey trained for the Jimmy Maloney fight, Wilson inquired about the availability of Carl Carter, negro heavyweight; Arthur Dekuh, Italian heavyweight; Jack Gapon, New Bedford, Mass., heavyweight, and Leo Lomski, coast light heavyweight.

Indications are that the ex-champion will train for Sharkey at Saratoga, where he prepared for Firpo four years ago.

Financial objections by the principals in the forthcoming bout are being ironed out with indications each will receive 25 per cent of the gate receipts Richard has planned.

The title bout between the winner and Tunney probably will not be held in this city, the promoter has decided. Chicago is favored for the match, which is to take place early in September.

EARL SMITH, PIRATE CATCHER, SUSPENDED.

Chicago, June 20 (P).—Earl Smith's fistic set-to with Davy Bancroft, manager of the Boston Braves, at Pittsburgh Saturday has brought his indefinite suspension from the catching staff of the league-leading Pirates.

President Heydler, of the National League, announcing the suspension yesterday after conferring here with Smith. Manager Donie Bush and President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh club, said he would get the Boston side of the story before announcing his final action. He planned to see Bancroft and other Braves in New York today.

POUGHKEEPSIE HORSE SHOE PITCHERS WIN

In the horseshoe pitching contest between Poughkeepsie and Kingston, held Saturday afternoon on the Frank DuPlan court, 83 Johnston avenue, the visitors defeated the Poughkeepsie team five out of eight games played. The Poughkeepsie tossers won on points, the Kingston men making more ringers and more double ringers. The total scores were: Visitors, 563 points, 95 ringers, 11 double ringers; Kingston, 311 points, 101 ringers and 13 double ringers. The players were: Kingston, DuPlan, Burns, DeGraff (Sub), Roosa; Poughkeepsie, Hannan, Maro, Myers, Colville.

On Saturday of this week the horse shoe pitching contest will be held at Poughkeepsie.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

Readie's Kingston Theatre will present the photoplay, "The Night of Love" with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, tonight. There will be a four-act Keith-Albee vaudeville program.

The Broadway theatre will present the Broadway stage success which has been playing for the past five years at the Republic theatre, "Able's Irish Rose."

METACAHONTS.
 Metacahonts, June 20.—There will be a strawberry festival held at the Metacahonts Hall on Wednesday evening, June 22. Everybody welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. David Depuy entertained relatives from Poughkeepsie on Sunday.

Children's Day service was enjoyed at the church and the hall on Sunday. There was a large crowd in attendance at both services.

Mrs. Mary Hendrickson, entertained her sister on Sunday.

The Willing Workers will meet at the home of Mrs. Jacob Baker on Thursday, July 7.

Hospital Nine Beats All-Stars

After the All-Stars had hung up five straight victories they dropped one to the Hudson River State Hospital club at Poughkeepsie Saturday by a 11-6 score. Although Dewey Van Buren was hit quite hard, if he had any kind of support with men on the sacks the score would have been much different.

Kaman, who twirled for the Hospital club, was hit almost as hard as Dewey but his teammates helped out several times with snappy plays that cut the runners down.

The down-river club hearing of the All Stars' string of victories loaded up for the contest and as the box score shows had a club that will make the best go to their limit.

The Hospital club scored eight runs in the first five innings on base hits helped along with errors. In the seventh frame they added three more to their list.

It took the locals till the eighth frame to find Kaman, when the All-Stars batted around scoring five runs. The ninth they added one more.

Sunday's game at Montgomery was called off due to rain.

No K. of C. Game.

The game with Port Jervis and the local Knights of Columbus' team had to be called off on Sunday due to the rain. The game will be played later in the season. Manager Quinn has his schedule very well filled and the Casers will be busy for some time.

Pan-Ams vs. Clermonts.

The Pan-Ams did not play at Elleville Sunday due to the rain. They will stack up against the Clermonts this evening at the Saugerties Road diamond. Manager McNally will use his new lineup and a fast game is expected.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Having matched the slugging of the Waners and Harris with the walling of Webb, Wilson and Stephenson, the Chicago Cubs were pressing forward more confidently today in their duel with the Pittsburgh Pirates for National League supremacy.

In winning the opening game of the important series by 14 to 7 yesterday, the Cubs outbatted the Pirates by 14 to 9, slammed the only home run of the game and made a single error to the Buccaneers' three. Charley Root had the better of the pitching argument with Hill, Yde and Cvetogros. As a result of the victory the Cubs are only a fraction more than one game behind the Pirates.

Playing the big series on their home field, the Cubs got away to a much better start in their bid for the lead than did the Chicago White Sox a few days ago when they sought to oust the Yanks from the American League attic in a series in New York. The Sox could win only the last one of the four games and since then have been losing dismally.

Even the White Sox pitching ace, Ted Lyons, was ineffective yesterday against the Indians who beat them by 3 to 2. It was Lyons' first defeat in nine starts and his club's ninth in the last twelve games. Shaute of the Indians earned his victory by pitching a four-hit game. In the only other American League game the Detroit Tigers won a point in their attempt to dislodge the Senators from the first division by winning a 5 to 1 decision.

At last the New York Giants found themselves with good pitching and beat the Cardinals by 4 to 3. Larry Benton, whom McGraw has just acquired from the Braves, fanned eight and allowed only two hits in the five innings before he was forced out of the game by being struck with a pitched ball and Clarkson gave only two safeties the rest of the way. A third good pitcher in the game was Sherdel of the Cardinals who was hit safely but six times.

Jack Scott of the Phillies out-shone all the other hurlers of the day, at least in ambition. After pitching a 3 to 1 victory over the Reds in the first game of a doubleheader, he hurled the second game too, losing it by 3 to 0.

Industrial Games Here This Week

Industrial League games will be played on the Athletic Field every evening from now on. If rain does not interfere the Schillings and the Post Office-City aggregation will meet this evening in a battle which is expected to create a goodly amount of interest. Steve Connelly is expected to do the hurling for the Schilling team with the help of Didzik behind the plate. Jack Robins, Colonials' catcher, will hurl for the Post Office-City nine. Bill Newkirk will do the receiving.

On Tuesday evening the West Shore and U. & D.-Cornell will be the opposing teams. All Industrial League games start at 6:15. Peter Jordan is the official caller.

Game at Fair Grounds.

Brown Tire Company baseball team will oppose the Wilbur Feds at the Fair Grounds on Tuesday night at 6:30. "K" Embree will be on the mound for the Browns. Louis Bruder will catch for the tire boys.

Cuban Stars to Play Colonials

The game between the Colonials and the Schenectady police did not materialize Sunday due to the rainy weather.

The Colonials will have to do some of the hardest and fastest playing of their career when they meet the Havana Stars of Cuba next Sunday afternoon at the Fair Grounds. The Cubans have been sailing along with a fine record this year and have registered victories over aggregations in the vicinity of New York, where they have been appearing on the diamonds for the past month.

The Havana Stars will have practically the same lineup as when they last appeared in Kingston.

The Kingston Cubs will meet the Rondout A. C. this evening at Block Park. It will be the initial battle between the two clubs. Planthaber will no doubt do the mound work for the Cubs while Peters will be in the box for the Rondouts.

Forty Graduate From St. Mary's

The closing exercises of St. Mary's School were held in the parish hall Sunday afternoon. There was a very large attendance.

After the program by the children of the school, the Very Rev. Joseph B. Scully, V. F., presented the diplomas to 40 graduates. Father Scully also gave a very impressive talk to the graduates and their parents on the training the children received in St. Mary's School and upon the future education of the boys and girls who were to make their debut into a different world than that of their parochial school life. Father Scully highly commended the work of the sisters.

On Wednesday evening there will be a reception for the graduates in the school hall and the parents of the graduates are requested to attend. The fathers are especially invited.

The Program.

The following is the program presented by the children, who were drilled by the sisters. Mrs. J. W. Leary and Miss Helen Cashin instructed the children in the musical and dancing parts respectively.

When We Were Young — J. A. Butterfield
Garlands — G. J. Timkams
Dutch Kiddles — G. J. Timkams

Physical Culture — Dumb Bells
Scotch Lassies — Song and Dance

MORAN SUMMER SCHOOLS' SPARE TIME PROGRAM

The summer season is a period of leisure for many. Their time for the most part is spent in the pursuit of pleasure. Others prefer to have something worth while to show for their time when fall arrives, and it is for their benefit that summer sessions are conducted each year by the Moran Business School, Burgevin building, Fair and Main streets.

These sessions appeal with special force not only to those who are planning business careers, but to college students and those about to enter college as well as to teachers who believe that no better use could be made of their surplus time than in the mastering of one or more of the practical business branches which they will later find to be most useful accomplishments—valuable additions to their educational attainments. Familiarity with shorthand and typewriting enables the college student to get the most out of his course.

To meet the individual requirements of each student, instruction at the Moran Summer School is necessarily personal, equivalent to private tutoring. Arrangements may be made for full-time or part-time schedules. Entrance is possible on any school day and the school office is open daily for registrations. Until July 1, the school will be open on Tuesday and Friday evenings until 9:30 o'clock.

PROF. SNYDER'S PUPILS TO GIVE PIANO RECITAL

A number of pupils from Arthur H. Snyder's piano class will give a recital in Mr. Snyder's music studio on Tuesday afternoon, June 28, at 2:30 o'clock. As has been the custom, each pupil is privileged to invite four of their friends or relatives. This courtesy is also extended to the pupils who for various reasons are unable to take a part in the recital program. It is expected that nearly all the pupils who perform solo work will play from memory. Each pupil who has a part in the recital will be presented with a handsome musical souvenir commemorative of the event.

3 Babies Die of Food Poisoning

Springfield, Ill., June 20 (AP).—Three babies are dead, another is believed to be dying and five others are ill of food poisoning at the Springfield Redemption Home, an institution for infants under the care of the courts.

Rose Norbert and Betty Bergman, both two years old, died last night, while the third death occurred early today.

Food served at the Sunday meal was blamed for the illness, which affected half the children at the home. Samples of the food have been taken for analysis.

The home matron, Minnie Manley, and the housekeeper, Alice Pauk, also became ill, but their condition was regarded as not alarming.

Resolutions.

In the passing of Herbert Carl, Kingston has lost a citizen, who in life expressed in deeds and spirit his great love for the city in which he made his home.

Few men so entered into the life of our community, giving of his time and means to advance its welfare. He will be sorely missed by all the many organizations with which he was connected, especially will be missed by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce where he was an able supporter and in which he gave active participation to many of its activities.

To his immediate family and relatives we extend our sincere sympathy in this time of their bereavement and we join with all in mourning the loss of a great citizen.

KINGSTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
E. Frank Flanagan, President.
